Investor Committee Opinions

Vc Partner

While the market score is decent, the financial and team scores are concerning. I'd like to see more traction and a clearer pricing strategy before investing.

Angel Investor

I'm intrigued by the AI-based route optimization platform, but limited customer validation and unclear pricing are major red flags. I'd consider investing if they can demonstrate more customer interest and a solid revenue model.

Growth Investor

The VERY HIGH risk level is a significant concern, but if FoodRoute AI can execute on their subscription model and demonstrate strong customer adoption, there could be substantial growth potential. I'd want to see more progress before investing.

Conservative Investor

The overall score of 22 and VERY HIGH risk level make this investment unappealing to me. I'd rather focus on more established companies with proven revenue models and lower risk profiles.
